

Lottie Lindley Memorial Bursary

2017-2018 Application

Purpose:

Lottie Lindley believed education could be both, a pathway to success for Indigenous people, as well as, a source of healing. Having attended the Kamloops Residential School, she recognized the complexities of Indigenous educational experiences. Lottie believed firmly in supporting learning, language, and building a strong and healthy family base.

She worked at the first detox centre in Merritt and became a social worker with all five bands in the Nicola Valley. She attended native human services courses in psychology, sociology, and communications in Kamloops, along with many other courses and trainings through the years. She joined the NVIT Elders' Council in 2005.

As a knowledge keeper and community leader, Lottie endeavored to carry the values of culture and bring them into a contemporary setting. Intermixed with these events was her own path of reclamation and healing, carrying her teachings with humility in a good way.

Lottie shared her life with her husband, Isaac Lindley, for close to 70 years and together they had 11 children, 25 grandchildren, 21 great grandchildren, and a great-great grandchild.

Lottie worked hard at preserving stories, family histories, and identities within the Valley. She spent ten years working closely with linguists to publish, "Okanagan Grouse Woman: Nicola Valley Narratives". This book took several years to complete and carries on the tradition of educating and supporting memories of our history in the Nicola Valley.

Eligibility:

Awarded to two (2) full-time 3rd or 4th year Aboriginal students from either campus and community education, one male and one female, enrolled in the Bachelor of Social Work program in minimum 80% course loads. Students must have achieved overall grade point averages above 2.33 (C+) for the academic year, demonstrate financial need, and describe their leadership skills and community involvement.

Value:

Each year, the surviving family of Lottie Lindley will donate two (2) awards of $500 each, to be disbursed at the annual NVIT awards ceremony in September.

Process:

Students must complete the following application process. Complete this checklist:

- Complete and sign the application form
- Submit proof of Aboriginal ancestry (copy of status/metis card or letter from Nation declaring ancestry)
